FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Sue Cartun Recognized by National Association of Realtors® for Commitment to Homeownership

TUCSON, Ariz. (July 22, 2016) – The Realtors® Political Action Committee (RPAC) – a national bipartisan grassroots-based political advocacy organization – has added another name to its “Hall of Fame.” Sue Cartun, a Realtor® from Tucson Association of REALTORS®, was inducted into the RPAC Hall of Fame recently in recognition of her contribution and support.

“RPAC is there to help shape the future of our industry,” said Cartun, a Realtor® and Operations Manager /Designated Broker for Keller Williams Southern Arizona. “I’m proud to be a part of the Hall of Fame, and even prouder to have been a supporter all these years.”

The Hall of Fame recognizes dedicated members whose RPAC investments total an aggregate of at least $25,000. Members were inducted at member meetings in May in Washington, D.C. and are recognized with a lapel pin, an inscription of their name on a plaque on the National Association of Realtor®’s Washington, D.C. building rooftop, and a plaque commemorating their support.

Sue Cartun joined Tucson Association of REALTORS® in 1978 and has supported RPAC for the past 17 years.

Current TAR 2016 Board President Eric Gibbs states, “Sue has been a true leader for the real estate industry as well as a champion for homeownership. She is inspiring to others not only locally, but across our state and nationally.”

Longtime Tucson Association of REALTORS® member, James Tsighis, states, “I’ve always admired Sue’s keen sense of responsibility and significant commitment to our industry. As a dedicated and respected leader, she has embraced the tenets of our profession and recognized the importance of the REALTORS® Political Action Committee (RPAC). Her financial investment has given her an opportunity to actively participate in government. She knows RPAC funds ensure issues facing the real estate industry and private property ownership will be heard by our elected officials. Keller Williams Southern Arizona and fellow REALTOR® colleagues are indeed proud of this Hall of Fame recognition and congratulate her on this extraordinary achievement.”

The first RPAC Hall of Fame class was inducted in 2002 and contained only 22 Realtors®. Across the country, nearly 700 individuals have been inducted into the RPAC Hall of Fame.

RPAC is a voluntary political action committee whose membership consists of REALTORS® and affiliates interested in actively and effectively protecting the real estate industry and the dream of homeownership by participating in government affairs at the local, state and federal levels. Although RPAC does not back political parties and does not get involved in presidential politics, it does back congressional candidates who have strong records of supporting homeownership and private property rights.
