Tucson Association of REALTORS® Applauds Pima County Voters for Approving Props 418 and 419

TUCSON, Ariz. March 3, 2026 — The Tucson Association of REALTORS® congratulates and thanks Pima County voters for their strong support of Propositions 418 and 419, a decisive vote that will help strengthen the region’s future, improve community safety, and support the infrastructure and investments needed to keep Southern Arizona economically competitive.

As one of the largest single contributors supporting this effort, the Tucson Association of REALTORS® was proud to stand behind this campaign and help make the case for why these measures mattered not only to the real estate industry, but to the future of the entire region.

“This was a vote of confidence in transportation throughout Pima County.” said Romeo Arrieta, CEO of Tucson Association of REALTORS®. “Voters recognized that if we want safer communities, a stronger economy, and the infrastructure necessary to support growth and opportunity, we have to invest in that future. We are grateful the voters saw that clearly and acted decisively.”

The approval of Props 418 and 419 reflects a serious commitment to projects and priorities that will improve quality of life for residents, support long term economic prosperity, and make Southern Arizona more competitive in attracting jobs, investment, and housing opportunity.

For the real estate industry, this outcome is especially significant. Strong infrastructure, safe communities, and regional mobility are essential to a healthy housing market and a thriving economy. REALTORS® understand that when communities invest wisely in the foundations of growth, it benefits current residents, future homeowners, businesses, and the broader regional economy.

“The real estate industry was proud to help lead on this effort because we know these investments shape the places where people live, work, and build their futures,” said Arrieta. “This victory belongs to the voters of Pima County, and we thank them for recognizing the importance of supporting projects that will move our region forward.”

The Tucson Association of REALTORS® also extends its appreciation to the coalition of community, business, and civic leaders who worked to educate voters and build support for the measures.

Southern Arizona now has an opportunity to turn this vote into meaningful progress by delivering projects that enhance safety, strengthen infrastructure, and position the region for lasting economic success.
